Waimanalo Gulch Sanitary Landfill is open to commercial waste haulers and residents.

The rules and procedures for residents using the City landfill are similar to convenience centers.

Upon entry into the landfill property, residents follow the roadway and stay to the far right in approach of the scale house. Stop at the gate and the scale attendant will ask the resident about the load. Once the load is approved, the scale attendant will direct the resident to drive up to the unloading area, and the gate will be raised for access up to the unloading area via the landfill access road. A landfill attendant will be positioned near the unloading area to direct incoming vehicles. Residents should follow similar convenience center safety rules while unloading their vehicles. After unloading, the resident will be directed to exit the landfill via the landfill access road.
